

passage-1

Q.1. Socrates relied heavily on enquiring dialogues for his learning. On the other hand, Aristotle published his work.

Q.2. Though philosophy is not fit for practical application that is why educationalists observed that as weak and wooly field.

Q.3. Perennialism is a educational philosophy that focus on everlasting ideas and universal truths.

Q.4. Plato believed that talent and intelligence is not distributed genetically and thus is be found in child born to all classes, although his proposed system of selective public education for educated minority of the population doesn't really follow democratic model.

12/11/2019

Q.5. The third option is correct facts do change with the changing times, hence they are not of the utmost importance when aiming for holistic education.